Cutting edge experience boosts Andorra Group

AS PART of its ongoing expansion plans, the Andorra Group has appointed Simon Dale as Technical Projects Manager.

Previously a consultant with local software developers, Welcom Software, which has featured for two years running in the Deloitte and Touche Northern Fast 50 Technology Listings, Simon brings with him a broad range of client facing experience in systems and software development. Inititally, his remit will be to manage all aspects of project co-ordination and development for the financial services provider Northern Rock PLC, one of the Andorra Group's major clients.

Simon's appointment is a further move to strengthen the management team at the Andorra Group.
Recent appointments have included Peter McIntyre as Development Manager and Nicola Wright as Office Manager.
Commenting on the appointment, Managing Director Steve Bean said

"The solutions that we offer to the majority of our clients have a strong foundation in new technologies.
"Simon's experience in developing cutting-edge solutions to meet client requirements will allow us to further broaden the range of products and services that we can deliver."
Based in Harrogate, the Andorra Group Limited was established in 2001 to help individuals and organisations identify, understand and use the most appropriate means to realise measurable, quantifable and qualifiable benefits and improvements in all endeavours.
